

We Stay Cool Under Pressure

About Us

As a national provider of HVAC services, EG Comfort's technicians are experts in design, startup, commissioning, and service of full digital control systems. Our services cover central plants, air handlers, VAV systems, split systems, ductless, and package units. We specialize in integrating BACnet and Modbus central HVAC and building systems. With Emily Grene as your partner, you'll receive customized design, personalized service, and singular results. And since we strive for cost efficiency, we can match your budget as well as your building needs.

Emergency Same-Day Service

When your AC breaks down, you need it fixed fast. We offer 24/7 emergency service from leading technicians who do the job right, right away.

Roof Top Packaged Units

From three tons to 150, we can provide a custom system and install it for exceptional operational flexibility, energy savings, and lasting performance.

Balancing Ongoing System Maintenance

Planned preventive maintenance can alleviate system failures and shrinking budgets. Our technicians provide customized maintenance services that ensure uninterrupted operation.

Automation & Controls

Take the stress out of managing systems with our around-the-clock service. We also install, maintain, and repair automation and control facility systems.

Air Handlers

For your building's air-handling needs, we provide expert knowledge, fast design, and prompt delivery that will increase your system's efficiency and performance.

HVACR

We install and repair energy-efficient heating, ventilation, air conditioning, and refrigeration (HVACR) systems. We also provide preventative maintenance for continued energy savings.

On Time. On Budget. On Top.

Whether you're building a new system or retrofitting an old one, EG Comfort offers cost-effective environmental control and sustainable efficiency you can rely on. EG Comfort is a full-service licensed C-20 heating and cooling company in southern California. With over 20 years of experience in the installation and service of air conditioning systems, we are currently ensuring safe & clean air systems nationwide for one of America's most trusted brands. Rest assured that our dedicated team will provide you with comfort and efficiency you can trust.
